Dear Friend:

Thank you for all your support. This time of the year we must think of school. I feel, just because children are in a children's home they should go to school well dressed, feel great about themselves with self confidence and pride.

I remember how I felt when all the other children had new clothes and I didn't.

When you are going to purchase 100 pairs of jeans, 100 shirts and blouses, 140 pairs of underwear, 140 pairs of socks, 20 jackets and 20 pairs of shoes. That's a big bill.

If everyone helps they shall have the self respect and confidence. Just because they are in a children's home, PEOPLE STILL CARE.

GOODBYE GEORGE

For a young teen whose abuse has left him with the mind of a five year old, we may have to bait the hook, but when the first bluegill of 2 inches snags his line, he can't stand still.

"Oh, what I do? I caught a fish, look....look." We explain he was a little fish so we need to put him back and let him get bigger. "But I want to keep him." Getting him to see why we can't keep him is a chore.

"I get it, when he grows up I'll catch him again. I'll call him George. Bye George. See you later."

And the fish swam away.

SET AN EXAMPLE

I watched two dogs. One was a cute and lovable Yorkie Poo, the other a long legged, short haired kind of hound. Certainly not the show dog as the Yorkie.

The owner complained that the hound chewed up things and wasn't trained.

I asked how many times do you tell the Yorkie how cute she is and hug and kiss her?

How many times do you tell the hound, how great and wonderful he is?

If we take this example and tell those we love no matter how they look, what a change there would be in this world.

AND THE DOG MAY NOT CHEW UP YOUR SHOES.

Love me no matter what I look like.

The same as with these children

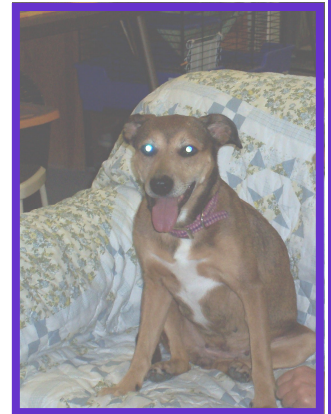

Love them unconditionally.

We have a new pet.....

One of our staff saw this lovable dog put out of a car. She brought her to One Way Farm. She loves the children and is a wonderful dog.

Another soul saved.
