May 2010

Dear Friends,

I thank you for sharing your love for children with us. Our 8000 children have found a home at One Way Farm. It has been thirty four years ago that a dream and a vision began. Many of the donors are now older or has since passed away. Each day I realize or hear of another friend who such has happened. Then a new name and a new face appear. I realize there is another army rising up against child abuse. People who know how difficult it is to provide the special needs of such children. Children who cry in the night, children who try to harm themselves to release this anger.

At One Way farm, our arms and hearts rise up to meet their needs along with one such as you providing funds so I can spend Mother's Day with them at a local retreat, one of the most difficult days of the year. They hand little notes to me, thanking me for being there on Mother's Day and I thank you also.

Barbara J. Condo

Child of the Month

His name is Adam. He came very frightened and small in size. He had a learning disability and stuttered a lot. After about 2 years he was becoming the age of an adult although his mind was that of a 10- year old. Adam loved his radio. He carried it everywhere he went. He slept with it. There was one place he couldn't take it—the bathroom. We were afraid it would end up in the tub. One day we saw an army of ants going into the radio. Upon looking further, we saw that the speakers were gone from the radio and in their place was candy, cookies, gum, and all kinds of trinkets. We took the radio and cleaned it out, then explained to Adam that no food could go into the radio because it was drawing ants. Well, he was like a raven. Any little thing he could put in between two fingers went into the radio. Then Adam left One Way Farm. The other day I saw him and guess what he was carrying—the radio. I hope someone is watching for the ants.
