February 2009

Dear Friend:

Winter has been upon us. The cost of winter weather is great but watching the children laughing and sledding removes the thoughts of the trials.

We got boots for all the children. When you go into the house you see red cheeks and boots all lined up. Looks like 7, oh no, 10 little dwarfs live here, times 2. I want to go out and play in the snow, they shout. We'll get the sleds and dress warm, you know giggling and running all over the house. So there will be some who are cold with snow in their eyes. They are wanting to get warm, this seems to bring on sleepy children, you know. Soon the day will be over, so will the snow. More children will come and more snow, we will need to buy more boots.

We must start everyday with a confession all our needs will be met.

A small boy about 2 1/2 years old came walking up the sidewalk dragging behind himself a Kroger bag. In the bag were two cans of green beans. He hefted the bag up to the desk and said in a tough voice, "this is for the kids."

We are hoping you will join us for our fundraiser on February 28th. We must sell 500 tickets. These funds will help us through the winter. I don't think we have experienced the final crisis as we are at this time.

Remember, "It's for the kids."
